Wendenburg Demands That Prisoner Explain How Gun Purchased by Cousin Came to Be in Hands of Bearded Highwayman On Night Wife Was Murdered—Later Admits Inability to Explain Matter—Other Points of His Testimony Shaken.

Chesterfield C. H., Va., Sept. 6.—Arguments in the case of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., on trial for the alleged slaying of his wife, will begin at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, and before adjournment in the evening the jury will have retired to deliberate on its verdict. There is no court in session today. Instead the lawyers for the commonwealth and the defense met with Judge Watson in the chambers of the supreme court in Richmond to argue the matter of the judge's charge to the jury. Under the Virginia practice, before the court charges the jury in capital cases, both sides are given an opportunity to urge upon him certain clauses in his instructions, the argu-

Providence, R. I., Sept. 6.—Thomas B. Newberry of Detroit, former secretary of the navy, while driving his runabout at Narragansett Pier, struck and killed Helen Ellis, the 7-year-old daughter of George W. Ellis of Mill-ford, Mass. Mr. Newberry gave himself up to the police and was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Edgar Watts on a charge of manslaughter preferred by Chief of Police James D. Caswell of the Pier.

Western Society Girl Has a Trained Coyote as Her Pet

HOW would you like to have a coyote as a pet? Would you prefer a small wolf or a Boston bull or a collie or a dachshund? Coyotes are not usually regarded as desirable pets, but when caught young it is possible to tame them. Miss Kathleen Laird, a society bud of Spokane, Wash., has a coyote that she prizes highly. She is a nephew of Andrew Laidlaw, a millionaire horseman and mine operator. The coyote was given to her when it was in its infancy, and her kind treatment won the little animal's heart until today it is a devoted slave and is her companion on daily walks. She has taught the coyote to do a number of tricks, and it is as affectionate and playful as any puppy. The accompanying picture was taken recently at the home of Miss Laird's parents.

Will Make Heavy Slash In Trans-continental Rates.

New York, Sept. 6.—With a capital of $15,000,000 the Atlantic & Pacific Transportation company was incorporated at Trenton, N. J., the object being to bid on the ocean mail service through the Panama canal, for which Postmaster General Hitchcock has advertised for bids. One of the incorporators, Bernard N. Baker of Baltimore, who helped to establish and was president of the Atlantis Transport company until it was absorbed by the International Mercantile Marine, was at the Waldorf to explain the purposes and plans of the new company.

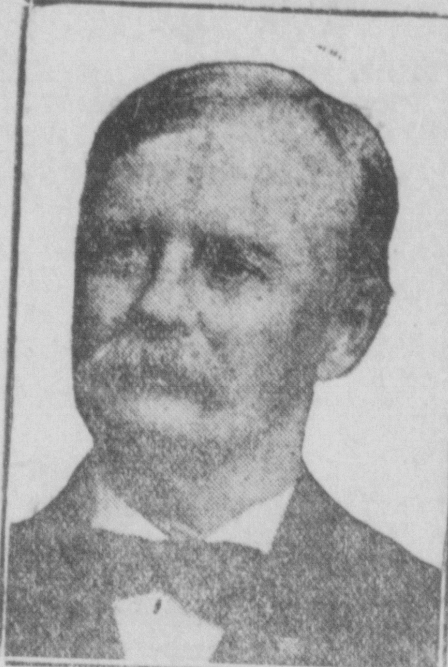

He gave two concrete examples of what transportation by the water route will save to shippers. Pig iron was sent by the overland rail route, said he, until recently, from the Birmingham district in Alabama to San Diego, Cal., foundries at a cost of $10 a net ton. Not long ago a Chinese company underbid the American railroads and entered into a contract by which they could bring pig iron from China, pay the duty and deliver it at San Diego at a lower rate.

Mr. Baker said that by taking this product down to Mobile on barges and carrying it from there through the Panama canal, pig iron could be delivered at $5 a ton and that meant the long English ton, too.

His other instance had to do with the shippers of lemons and oranges from California. It would mean to these dealers in citrus fruits a saving of approximately 40 per cent, or between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 a year.

Columbus Vaudeville Artist Then Becomes Raving Maniac.

Columbus, O., Sept. 6.—After offering $10 reward for the return of his wife, Mrs. Grace Markley, who, he said, had disappeared from his home, Robert Markley, vaudeville showman, known as "Montana Bob," went to the home of Mrs. Allie Koontz, a neighbor, found his wife there and shot her through the right arm with the alleged intention of killing her. He was captured, raving like a maniac, by six policemen, 10 minutes later near the city prison, after he had twice attempted to commit suicide. He is now in a padded cell at the city prison, still raving.

Strike
 Not Ordered

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Instead of ordering the federated shop employees of the Illinois Central railroad to strike, representatives of the nine international organizations involved decided to send a reply to the letter in which C.  GUIANA

American Missionary in Guiana Ventures Into Interior.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The Rev. O. E. Davis of Washington, who has been superintendent of the Seventh Day Adventist mission in British Guiana, was murdered by natives in the interior while he was carrying on evangelist work among them. The murder is supposed to have occurred in the second or third week in July. Information of the murder was received at the headquarters of the Seventh Day Adventists at Tacoma Park, Md., near Washington. It came in the form of a cablegram from the Rev. E. C. Roger of California, who had been sent to succeed Mr. Davis. The cablegram gave no details.

Shortly before Rev. Davis' death a report was received at the headquarters here from Dr. Davis that he had received an invitation from a tribe located some distance up the Demoraras river and was just leaving in response to it. He added that it was his intention after he had fulfilled this mission to penetrate a territory where no white man had heretofore gone. Several days ago the headquarters at Tacoma Park received a cablegram from Georgetown stating that Mr. Davis had not returned from his trip to the interior and that fears were entertained that he was murdered. The murdered minister was accompanied by his wife when he went to British Guiana, and she is now in Georgetown.

Late estimates place the total number of deaths from cholera during the present epidemic in Italy at 30,000.

MARSHALL WINS IN COLUMBUS

Newark Republicans Pick Ex-Saloon-keeper Who Had Indorsement of Law and Order League, While Deaf Ear Is Turned to Atherton's Plea For Chance to Redeem Himself in Eyes of People—Prosecutor Hunt Will Try to Get Schwab's Job.

Columbus, O., Sept. 6.—Mayor

George S. Marshall has been nominated for a second term by the Republicans by a plurality of 2,800 approximately and possibly by an actual majority over his two opponents, George M. Harper and Daniel J. Ryan. Marshall was elected two years ago as a reform candidate and he has closed saloons Sundays and after midnight. Harper, a union bricklayer, favored open saloons. Ryan, who formerly was secretary of state, had a platform similar to that of Marshall.

The Democrats have nominated George J. Karb, supposedly an advocate of an open town, but he is expected to declare for a closed Sunday. Karb easily defeated Henry A. Mason, a monument dealer. Karb was formerly mayor of Columbus and sheriff of Franklin county.

THE LOCAL CONTEST.

In this city the election was particularly quiet and the vote distressingly light. The Republican vote cast far exceeded that cast by the Democrats. The former had a full ticket in the field and in most instances a contest for the nomination. The Democrats had only two candidates contesting for the nomination and both of those were seeking the mayoralty nomination.

That contest resulted in a victory for T. P. Sites who received 126 votes and J. B. Koontz received 27 votes.

The complete story of the result in the Republican primary is told in the tabulated result published in this issue.

Glenn M. Pine, for city auditor, was an easy victor over Wm. Bradfute, and E. J. Light received the nomination for president of council over Col. B. H. Millikan.

The result of the primary yesterday insures four new faces in the city's next council. For councilmen-at-large, Veall, of the present body, was nominated, while McLellan and Hopkins fell short a few votes, their places on the ticket going to Durant and Cox.

Tar Baby
 Wins The Fight

Langford Has Snared the Best of Joe Jeannette.

New York, Sept. 6.—In a ten-round glove fight that bristled with science and hard hitting, Sam Langford, the Boston tar baby, out-pointed Joe Jeannette of Union Hill, N. J., by a small margin. Langford's harder punching enabled him to carry off the honors, such as they were, but Jeannette gave a splendid exhibition of skill. From the first tap of the gong the battle was sensational. No love was lost, and the men fought desperately for supremacy. It was not until the tenth round that Langford did enough effective punishing to assert himself, and when the gong ended the encounter Jeannette was visibly worried and tired.

New York Police Think They Have Black Hand Leader.

New York, Sept. 6.—Collared as he walked through a crowded East Side street with a bomb concealed beneath his coat, a man whom the police credit with being the master mind of the worst of Black Handers that ever operated in New York, was arrested.

He is Giuseppe Costabile, a "salesman." At police headquarters it was declared that Costabile not only directed the 16 bomb outrages in the tenement district during the last month, but that he had also figured in several recent kidnappings.

CRAIG—WILSON.

A wedding of marked interest in the county took place at the home of Mr. Ferrell Patton, below Staunton, Wednesday, when Mr. Patton's granddaughter, Miss Lela Wilson, was married to Mr. Floyd C. Craig, of Duncan, Okla., son of Mr. Henry Craig, formerly of this county.

The two young people have been sweet-hearts from their youth, only separated when the young man accompanied his father to the West.

The ceremony took place at eight o'clock, with only the immediate family present.

The bride, looking very pretty in her wedding attire responded to good wishes with becoming blushes.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig expect to make their future home in Duncan, Okla., where the bridegroom is a rural mail carrier.

Soon after his coming back here for a visit Mr. Craig had the misfortune to break his arm and the departure of the young couple for the West will depend upon the mending of the broken bone.

Corn-cutting Opens Many Laborers Arrive

Fayette county's bumper corn crop is now being placed in the shock. The harvest opened up in real earnest this week, and several thousand farmers in the county are now engaged in opening up the fields by wielding the corn knife industriously.

With the arrival of corn harvest, scores of men and boys from the southern hills are flocking to this and adjoining counties to carry off the splendid wages which are being paid. In many localities the corn has been badly twisted by the storms, and as a consequence the price of cutting corn is soaring.

Starving Man Fed And Goes His Way

Jim Basey, the young man found in a box car in a starving condition a few days ago, and through the good Samaritan act of Mr. Chas. Johnson and a physician of this city, was taken to the County Infirmary, has left that institution and headed toward his home near Waverly.

Basey was taken care of in the best possible manner, and was not a member of the county family but a short time until he had so far regained his strength as to be able to proceed on his way homeward.

Sleep-walker Injured by Fall

Mrs. Wm. Hettesheimer met with a painful accident last night, resulting in a severe straining of one of her ankles.

Mrs. Hettesheimer had arisen in her sleep and was walking about the house when she was suddenly precipitated down a short flight of stairs. The force of the fall was sufficient to thoroughly arouse her, also her husband, who hurried to her assistance. A hasty examination disclosed a badly wrenched ankle and a few bruises, but no serious injuries.

MEMOIR.

Eliza Ann Rowe, was the daughter of William and Elizabeth David, and was born in Ross county, Ohio, September 12, 1824, and died at her home in Washington C. H., Ohio, August 30, 1911, aged 86 years, 11 months and 18 days.

She was united in marriage with Levi Rowe, Sept. 9, 1849, and began housekeeping on a farm near the village of Staunton, Ohio, where they remained until about the year 1871, at which time they removed to Washington C. H.

Of the three children born to these parents, only one son survives, Wesley H. Rowe of Savannah, Ga., who with his wife, as loving and devoted to the mother as he himself was, were here to comfort her in her last hours.

After a happy married life of almost 43 years, the deceased's husband was suddenly taken away.

The past 19 years have been spent in quiet meditation of his noble life, and in joyful anticipation of a glorious reunion in the life which is to come.

The last year or two of her earthly life have been marked with a good deal of anxiety concerning a daughter, Mrs. Cahill, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Emma Rowe, who have recently passed away.

The deceased was a good Christian mother, having accepted the Christian faith many years before her children were born. In her youth she was a faithful and active member of the Presbyterian church, but for many years past her membership has been in the Methodist Episcopal church, and at the time of her death was a devoted member of Grace church in this city.

Numerous friends and neighbors testify to the wonderful influence of her noble Christian character.

There remain to mourn their loss, the son and his wife, an adopted daughter, Mrs. R. A. Printz, two grand-children, three great grand-children, one brother, John David, the only surviving member of his father's family of nine children, besides a very large circle of other relatives and friends.

All these testify to the fact that her influence over them has been both gracious and beneficent, and the memory of her noble life is precious.

FOR CONSTIPATION.

A Medicine that Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Satisfies.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which is odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Three sizes, 50c., 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. Blackmer & Tanquary.

The Elks' Excursion

The Elks' excursion to Buckeye Lake moved off on schedule time Wednesday morning and the way the great crowd at the station was handled in the start augured well for the success of the trip.

The first section pulled out from the C. A. & C. station promptly at 6:30, with 14 coaches, all full.

The second section at 6:50 carried 13 coaches also full. The last section, leaving at 7:03, carried a number of coaches, only 2 filled here but with a waiting crowd at Johnson's Crossing and New Holland that it was estimated would fill up these cars.

A large number came in from the country, some arriving too late for the last section and having to miss the trip.

It will certainly be a great outing. The day was fine and the Elks had all the arrangements well in hand with special committees accompanying each section.

The train equipment proved exceptionally good and far above that ordinarily given on excursions.

Mr. Elmer Peele, local C. A. & C. agent, Mr. Smith, assistant passenger agent of the Pennsylvania R. R., and a selected force of special officers personally supervised the trip. The returning trains are expected to arrive this evening soon after 8:30.

defeated Perry Goodwin for the nomination for councilman, while J. Earl McLean proved victor over O. D. Marchant in the Third ward.

O. D. Smith in the Second ward had no opposition and F. M. Rothrock by a margin of 14 votes defeated Dr. E. C. Hamilton for the nomination for councilman in the First ward.

The day was particularly unfavorable for a heavy vote, during the forenoon a steady down-pour of rain kept many away from the polling places. There were, however, about 750 Republican votes cast at the election, which is a fair showing under the weather conditions.

The voting yesterday demonstrates that in the smaller cities the people do not take kindly to the primary plan and will not go out and vote.

Perhaps though in time they will learn to avail themselves of the primary plan especially the voters of the majority party.

JOHNSON MAN WINS

Baker Beats Salen by Vote of Four to One.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 6.—Newton D. Baker, the late Tom Johnson's lieutenant, was nominated for mayor by the Democrats of Cleveland over County Clerk Charles P. Salen by an overwhelming plurality. The vote was better than four to one in Baker's favor.

The Republican city organization was victorious at the polls, Public Safety Director Frank G. Hegen being nominated for mayor over his nearest opponent, Miner G. Norton, by a vote estimated at between 11,000 and 40,000.

Newark Rebukes Atherton

Newark, O., Sept. 6.—F. M. Swartz was nominated for mayor by the Democrats, and the Republicans nominated R. C. Bigbee. Herbert Atherton, who resigned from the mayor's office last summer, following the lynching of Carl Etherington, was the tail-end Democratic candidate for mayor. Mayor John M. Ankele, who sought renomination in the Republican primary, was defeated by Bigbee by a good majority. Bigbee is an ex-shipkeeper, who was backed by the Law and Order league and the dry element generally.

Turnbull Admits He Is Wet. Canton, O., Sept. 6.—Mayor A. R. Turnbull is the candidate of the Democratic party for the fourth time for mayor of Canton. He won the nomination by the narrow margin of 63. Opposing him is Clifton Burns, Republican, real estate dealer, who won the nomination against three competitors. Burns is known to be dry, while Turnbull has made no secret that he is wet.

Result at Dayton.

Dayton, O., Sept. 6.—John C. Ely, Democrat; Edward Phillips, Republican, and Willard Barringer, Socialist, are the mayoralty candidates for Dayton as the result of the primaries. Neither Phillips nor Barringer had opposition, the contests being confined to the Democrats.

Schwab Is Renominated.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 6.—A light vote was polled at the primary election in this city, due to heavy rains. Dr. Louis Schwab, present mayor, was renominated by the Republicans, and Henry T. Hunt, county prosecutor, chosen Democratic candidate for mayor.

Wets Win in Xenia.

Xenia, O., Sept. 6.—The Republican primary in Xenia, which in reality was a fight between the wets and dries, resulted in a victory for the wets. The present mayor, William Dadds, Republican, was renominated by a big majority.

Wet Candidate Wins.

Springfield, O., Sept. 6.—At the primaries J. C. Miller was named for mayor by the Democrats and W. A. Martin by the Republicans. Miller is wet.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

A beautiful home wedding, punctuated by a college atmosphere which added to its charm, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDowell, in Bloomingburg, Tuesday at high noon, when Miss Ruth McDowell plighted her troth to Mr. Charles McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCoy.

The bride-groom graduated from Miami university in June, and was one of the most popular men in the college as well as one of the most noted athletes of the Miami track team, breaking the Six Six record in the 100 yard dash.

The bride is also quite young and a lovable, attractive girl, with many friends among Washington's younger society people as well as in her own home circle.

No formal invitations had been issued, but fifty guests, college friends and family connections, witnessed the beautiful Episcopal ring ceremony, performed by Dr. Charles L. Herald, of Oxford.

A white and green color scheme was most artistically employed throughout the home, with jardinières and vases of snowy asters effectively placed amid vine and palms. Mrs. Ed Kinnear, of Houston, Texas, a warm friend of Mrs. McDowell, supervised the decorating.

In the living room was arranged a luxuriant bridal altar of palms, ferns, trailing white clematis and asparagus, with an overhanging wedding bell of green, swayed by ropes of asparagus to the four corners of the room.

To this altar the bridal party was summoned by the sweet strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Martha McCoy, pianist, and Mr. Raymond Scott, violinist. After the rendering of a choice concert program the young sister of the bride, Miss Dorothea McDowell, all in white, drew the white ribbons to form the bridal aisle.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson, an extremely pretty maid, in pink marquisette, with immense shower bouquet of pink asters and fern, entered from one side as the minister entered from the other.

The fair young bride, looking lovely in her wedding gown of white embroidered Swiss with trimming of croqueting fringe, carrying a white prayer book, came in on the arm of her father, who gave her away.

Mr. W. H. Cushman, of Emporia, Kan., Mr. McCoy's room-mate at Miami, acted as best man.

After a brief reception the young couple led the way to the dining room, where a course breakfast was served. Easton catered.

The dining room, where the young people were seated, had decorations in the Beta colors, blue and pink. Miss Florence Loofbourrow found the ring in the cake, Miss McCoy, the thimble; Mr. Sam McDowell the ring and Mr. Himmelwright, of Piqua, the heart.

Among the guests were Miss Lucy Tilghman and Miss Hazel Tilghman, of Oxford; Mr. T. G. Himmelwright, Mr. R. S. Levering, of Piqua; Mr. Robert Graham, Sidney; Mr. Wm. Harris, Dayton; Mr. Howard Coffman, Columbus; Mr. W. H. Cushman, Emporia, Kan.; Mrs. Ed Kinnear, of Houston, Texas; Mrs. Ellen Cissna; Mrs. John Millikan, Misses Elizabeth Johnson, Ruth Allen, Florence Loofbourrow, Myrtle Bonham, Miss Marie Beatty, of Selden.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy left on the afternoon train for Murfreesboro, Tenn., where Mr. McCoy has accepted the position of athletic director in the college and where they will make their home this year.

They take with them the best wishes of friends galore.

The home of Misses Mazie and Ethel Priddy, near Buena Vista, was the scene of a charming miscellaneous shower Tuesday afternoon, given by the sixteen girls of the B. S. K. club for Miss Elsie Todhunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Todhunter, whose wedding to Mr. Ralph Nisley, of the Wilmington pike, will be an event of the near future.

The affair was very enjoyable and in the nature of a surprise. The attractive young bride-elect received a number of beautiful gifts and after the shower a delicious luncheon was served.

The guests of the club included Mrs. A. N. Todhunter, Mrs. Clarence Todhunter, Mrs. Willis Ellis, Misses Luella Sollars, Marie Nisley, Sarah DeWees.

Rev. T. W. Locke, of Grace church officiated at a quiet wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stuckey, Wednesday morning at half past eight o'clock, when Mr. and Mrs. Stuckey's only daughter, Achsah, was married to Mr. Grover Bargar.

The home was tastefully decorated in pink and white asters and greenery and the immediate families were in attendance.

The bride looked exceedingly pretty in an embroidered gown of sheer white. Her going away gown was a dark blue tailored suit, with hat and gloves to match. She is a girl of much genuineness and charm, with a large circle of acquaintances through her business relations in the F. L. Stutson's department store, where she was one of the most valued sales women for several years, and also many warm friends.

Several social affairs in her honor preceded the wedding. Miss Irene Tobin gave a linen shower, at which Miss Stuckey received beautiful gifts and Monday night twenty girls of the Stutson store gave an informal affair and presented her with a handsome mahogany chair upholstered in leather, from the store.

There were also a number of wedding gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Bargar left on the 9:38 C. H. & D. train this morning for a short wedding trip. They expect to make their future home here, where Mr. Bargar is known as one of Washington's talented and successful young architects.

He shares with his bride in the sincere congratulations of a wide circle of friends.

Bank Decides to Liquidate.
Bellefontaine, O., Sept. 6.—The Farmers' and Merchants' bank of Bellecenter, this county, closed its doors. Officials of the Bellecenter Banking company, a rival institution, announce that they have arranged to pay all depositors in full. The defunct institution was organized about four years ago by A. J. Solomon of Columbus. It had a capital stock of $12,500 and deposits amounted to $30,000. The officers claim the business was not paying and decided to liquidate through the Bellecenter Banking company.

Old Orchard, Me., Sept. 6.—Louis Disbrow, in a Pope-Hartford, broke the world's record for 25 miles by going the distance in 15:25 on the beach track. J. M. Rutherford was second; Charles Gustafson set a new record for 10 miles, going the distance in 6:29.

NOTICE TO PARENTS AND PUPILS

The Washington C. H. schools will open Monday, September 11.

The Millwood school house and the English addition school house has been secured by the Board of Education to take care of the pupils in these additions until the new Cherry Hill building is completed. Then the pupils of Millwood with those above the third grade, from Oak Lawn will attend Cherry Hill, and those residing in the English addition will come to the Central Building.

Please note that there is no change in districts from last year until further notice.

The list of school books and supplies is as given below for the years 1911 and 1912.

The only changes in the High school texts are Algebra and Caesar. In both cases the pupils would purchase new books as this is their first introduction to these subjects. The new Caesar will save the pupils from purchasing a Latin grammar and a text in Latin prose composition. The Algebra makes the transition from arithmetic to algebra in a very easy and interesting manner, and the text costs 11 cents less than the one formerly in use. In case there is an old Wentworths in the home the pupil can secure the new algebra for 60c and his old book, thus saving 23c on the purchase.

In making the change in the texts below in the High school, the Board of Education has followed, so far as possible, the same plan of changing the text where the pupil takes up a new text. The Watson and White arithmetics are especially strong in oral work, and the introduction to new subjects is clear, concise and easily comprehended.

The exchange for the Intermediate book, for 5th grade, is White's First and 27c, for the grammar school for 7th grade is White's complete book and 36c.

The new word speller for grades 4, 5 and 6 can be secured for the Aiton's old book and 12c; the Champion Speller for grades 7, 8 and 9, can be secured for the old Aiton and 15c.

The Board of Education has decided to furnish the music books, thus saving from $100 to $175 per year. The pupils who have old music readers which they used last year or prior to that time, will turn them in to the teacher who will furnish their respective rooms with music readers from time. This action of course will not prevent any parent from purchasing music books to be used at home in case they so desire.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY REMEDY (Liquid)

Is a great medicine of proven value for both acute and chronic kidney and bladder ailments and for annoying urinary irregularities. It is especially recommended to elderly people for its wonderful tonic and reconstructive qualities, and the permanent relief and comfort it gives them. L. McConnell, 117 Catherine St., Elmira, N. Y., says: "Five bottles did the work for me most effectively and beyond doubt Foley's Kidney Remedy is the most reliable kidney medicine ever made." Blackmer & Tanquary.

Elyria Faces Milk Famine.
Elyria, O., Sept. 6.—Milk at 10 cents a quart or no milk at all is what Elyria is now facing. The board of health recently adopted a rule regulating the handling of the milk supply of the city. Farmers who supply the city with milk are indignant. They say that they can not live up to the rules and sell milk at a reasonable price.

Woman Counterfeiter Released.
Columbus, O., Sept. 6.—Della Taylor, serving five years for counterfeiting from Scioto county, was released from the pen at the expiration of her sentence. She was the only woman counterfeiter at the prison for some time. The population of the woman's department at the pen today is 29, the lowest number during Warden Jones' administration.

Train Has Close Call.
Martins Ferry, O., Sept. 6.—A Wheeling & Lake Erie passenger train was derailed two miles north of town, and three coaches stopped within a foot of going over a 30-foot embankment into the Ohio river. The passengers were thrown into a panic when they saw their danger, but all got out safely.

AFTER THE CAUCUS TOO.

The progressive statesman of the nation, which is the generally accepted classification for that type of men who are not satisfied with the existing order of things are beginning to agitate another radical departure, with that degree of insistence and logic which has meant the success of so many reforms during the last dozen years.

While this new movement is yet in its infancy it is gaining ground every day among thinking people for the very manifest reason that it is rock bottom common sense and many of the converts to the doctrine are wondering how a proposition so primarily plain should have so long escaped vigorous advocacy.

This new movement has for its aim and purpose the total extinction of the legislative caucus. The progressive statesman demands that all legislation affecting the people's rights and enacted by the people's servants, be enacted in public and considered and discussed in open public session rather than in secret behind closed doors.

It is but another outgrowth of the breaking down of party lines and the growing tendency among statesmen to break away from the rule so long adhered to and which, in the rigid application resulted in much harmful legislation, placing party above the people's rights and interests.

It is not surprising that, following close upon the heels of the universally expressed purpose of the people to disregard party and vote for principle and men, this new demand should spring up and meet with such universal favor.

The party caucus on matters pertaining to legislation has long been recognized as harmful to the people's interests, but so deep rooted was the caucus habit and so universally was it resisted too from ward makers in the party ranks to officials in office in the high place of the government, that it has long been regarded as a fixed form.

Now that the whole drift has changed, it would not be surprising to see the work of eliminating the caucus carried even to the extreme of barring it in matters of party expediency strictly. Since the matter has been forcefully presented and earnestly advocated the utter force of the people's servants shutting the doors in their master's face while they transact business peculiarly that of their masters has become ridiculously plain.

A custom which would not be tolerated for an instant in private affairs of life should certainly not find favor in public affairs.

Unless the present current of thought and intention is turned squarely around, which does not now seem probable, the old time caucus seems to be marked for certain slaughter.

Teach Children Beauty of the Flowers

By William F. Curtis, Jr.

Children should never be allowed to pluck flowers, even in the field and hedges, merely to throw them aside; they should be early taught reverence for this floral beauty which is around them and never be permitted wantonly to break down boughs and branches, or fill their laps with buttercups and daisies only to leave them withered in the sun, discarded and forgotten.

The young should cherish their flowers as wisely as, and more tenderly than, they cherish their gold or silver pieces in their money boxes. The exquisite beauty of even the humblest blossom can only be appreciated by the eyes which gaze on it with attention and affection. If the wild thyme, or the shepherd's purse, or the cuckoo's eye, or any one of the tiny blossoms of the sward and hedgerow were but as rare as sapphires are, the whole world would quarrel for them; but nature has sown these little treasures broadcast with lavish hand, and scarcely any one is grateful.

The garden is a little pleasure of the soul, by whose wicket the world can be shut out from us. In the garden something of the golden age still lingers; in the warm alleys where the bees hum about the lilies and the stocks, and also where the lime leaves and the acacia flowers wave joyously as the west wind passes.

A true lover of a garden counts time and season by his flowers.

Would Place Tax on All Cats Too

By M. I. JONAS
Baltimore, Md.

This agitation about having country dogs taxed and muzzled would be funny if the proposition were not so silly. Dogs are as necessary to householders in the country as policemen are to the city, and often they are more valuable in that they in nine times out of ten prevent crimes, while the policeman has to hunt the offender after the commission of the crime.

I have four dogs at my home in the country. They are not permitted to run at large and I know a number of instances where they have given warnings when chicken thieves were on their rounds.

They are a safeguard and a protection, and to place a tax on them would be an injustice.

Why not put a tax on cats, weasels, owls and other varmints who do harm in our chicken yards?

POETRY FOR TODAY

YOUR DEBT.

You owe her more than a living,
Than food and clothing and bed;
You owe her more than a place to eat
And a roof to cover her head.
You owe her more than a dwelling place,
Or a cot by the bloomy mile;
You owe her love, and a tender word,
And a kiss and a daily smile.

You owe her more than conveniences,
Than water and heat and clothes;
You owe her more than some shopping funds,
A play and a hothouse rose.
You owe her ever-increasing love,
That she'll treasure more than all
The curtains of lace in the living room
Or the brussels rug in the hall.

You owe her more than her bed and board,
Than comfort of body and mind;
You owe her the habit of being good
And thoughtful and tender and kind.
You owe her the deathless gratitude
That a manly man should feel
For the woman who comes to his life to make Life something noble and real.
—Baltimore Sun.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Editor Herald:

Mayor Allen's withdrawal from the Primary should awaken the Law and Order people of this town to the fact that we have a fight on our hands. In his campaign two years ago Mayor Allen pledged himself to enforce the law without fear or favor. He has not only kept that pledge to the letter but he has done more. He has not contented himself with dealing with such infractions of the law, particularly gambling and illicit liquor dealing, as have been brought before him, but has taken personal direction in a most energetic and efficient manner, of the police and other officers of the city government in seeking out and punishing offenders against the law, be they high or be they low. With what result? That question is best answered by the law breakers themselves, some of whom in high station, have run afoul of our fearless mayor and all of whom are now banded together, working tooth and nail to compass his defeat. Wet sympathizers regale us with cock and bull stories of the quantity of liquor sold in this town, but every candid informed citizen knows that bottles sneak in now where barrels were formerly hauled through our streets and brazenly unloaded at saloon front doors. No chicken livered boss controlled mayor could have achieved this result. Mayor Allen must not be permitted to abandon this fight for lack of support from the very element whose battles he has fought. Almost single handed he has made the bravest, the most relentless and the most successful war upon lawlessness ever witnessed in Fayette county. Shall he be abandoned by his friends. The Mayor's withdrawal from the Primary should have been demanded by his supporters, but his supporters should first qualify themselves to make demands upon him by according active support, not that kind of support so painfully in evidence now, supineness, indifference, "let George do it" or cowardly fear of showing colors. All should now join hands to see to it that efforts be concentrated upon his election as an independent. If he is given the support he so richly deserves, we shall then have a right to demand of him that the fruits of three severe campaigns shall not be sacrificed by his refusal to stand as an independent candidate. Temperance people do not be deceived by spacious arguments of wet sympathizers! Let no side issues or small personal considerations blind you to the fact that Rell Allen has made good as a reform mayor. We know him. We also know those who are opposed to him. Stand up! Speak out! The man who refuses to handle a bucket in the fire line brands himself as an incendiary.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Caring For the Bedridden.

When one is old and has only what nursing the household can provide the lot of the bedridden is attended with dangers. Serious results are sure to follow if a patient, particularly an old person, is allowed to lie for hours at a time, day in and day out, in the same position. The skin covering the bony points on which the weight falls becomes worn, irritated, inflamed and then breaks, forming bedsores, which, besides being acutely painful, are difficult to cure. Lying constantly in one attitude, the parts of the lungs which are lowest become filled with a fluid which escapes from the blood vessels, due to the weakened state of the circulatory system. If the patient lies for hours without change of posture this fluid will, by the action of gravity, collect in the lowermost portions of the lungs. By filling up the air chambers in these parts the portion of the lungs remaining available for breathing purposes becomes gradually reduced. The pneumonias which so often end the sufferings of bedridden patients usually begin in this waterlogged state of the lungs. If the patient is moved into a different position every two or three hours the can usually be made equally comfortable by the plentiful use of pillows the fluids which have escaped into the lungs will not have time to collect sufficiently in one place to throw out of action any important amount of lung tissue.

Carefulness

in making mortgage loans has characterized the Buckeye State Building and Loan Company, Rankin Building, 22 West Gay Street, Columbus, Ohio, from its beginning. This accounts for this large company owning no real estate. It has also loaned its money principally to the small home builder. Hence it has rendered a great service to the people. Q.—Please explain and harmonize Jesus' words to the Thief on the cross—"Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with Me in Paradise" (Luke xxiii, 43), and His words to Mary—"Touch Me not; for I have not yet ascended to My Father" (John xx, 17)?

Answer.—Our Lord and the dying Thief did not go to Heaven on the day of crucifixion, but both went into the tomb, the grave, from which our Lord was raised "the third day according to the Scriptures" (1 Corinthians xv, 4), and from which the Thief will be raised at the last day (John xi, 24). See also John v, 28, 29. The testimony of the Scriptures is exceedingly plain and simple to the effect that Jesus did not ascend into Heaven until at least forty days after His crucifixion (Acts i, 11). Paradise signifies a "cultivated garden" or park. Adam was placed in the Garden of Eden or Paradise, and because of disobedience was sent out of this delightful place. The Scriptures teach that at our Lord's return from Heaven, the whole earth is to be gradually transformed until it will all be like the Garden of Eden, and thus Paradise will be restored. Isaiah thirty-fifth chapter, Ezekiel xxxvi, 34, 35, Psalm lxvii, 6. Then the Thief, coming forth from the grave, will enter in on the blessed and happy conditions which then will be in existence, and, by complying with the conditions of Divine grace, will live forever more. The seeming discrepancy in our Lord's words as given in the question is easily accounted for when we consider that the comma following the word "thee" in the first quotation is wrongly placed. It should be placed after the word "to-day." Now note our Lord's statement, "Verily I say unto thee to-day (this dark day), thou shalt be with Me in Paradise (at My second coming when Paradise is restored)." Jesus' words to Mary, the morning of His resurrection, corroborate this conclusion.

Counsel Resting

ment in no sense being binding upon the court, but merely advisory. The completion of testimony came suddenly when Henry Owen, a brother of the woman who was murdered, the last witness for the prosecution in rebuttal, was on the stand. His taking the stand was the final surprise launched at Beattie's defense by Louis Wendenburg, the commonwealth's prosecutor. After he had denied the story of Henry Beattie, that to the end his wife and he had never exchanged a cross word, Wendenburg announced that the prosecution rested its rebuttal. The defense had no serious rebuttal to make and the ten days of evidence-taking were thus brought abruptly to an end.

Day Devoid of Sensations.

This final day in the prosecution's effort to bring Henry Beattie to punishment for the crime of which he is accused was quite the most disastrous of all that had passed over his head. No great sensation was sprung, but bit by bit the story that the prisoner had himself told on the stand and that favorable witnesses had sought to substantiate for him, was torn down by an overwhelming weight of evidence in rebuttal. The final question that had been propounded to Beattie when he resumed the stand for a few minutes to have his cross-examination completed remains unanswered and, above all other questions at issue, the most fraught with significance.

"How did the gun bought by Paul Beattie three days before the murder happen to be in the hands of the man who shot your wife, and how do you account for the fact that in every detail of shooting it always was the gun bought by Paul Beattie that is in evidence?" was the last question that Wendenburg shot at Henry Beattie before he left the stand.

"I can not account for that," was Beattie's answer; nor did his counsel account for it, except to put on witnesses to say that Paul Beattie's reputation for truth and veracity is bad.

Own Friend Testifies.

By constant iteration Henry Beattie sought to establish the fact both in his direct and cross-examination that on the certain Thursday night, when Paul says Henry met him with his machine and requested him to buy a second-hand shotgun, he had not seen his cousin Paul, and did not go to the several places where Paul in his evidence had said they went. Henry Beattie made a flat and positive denial of his cousin's story in this respect, even though Wendenburg gave him the hint that there would be plenty of witnesses to rebut him.

The prosecutor made good his hint with the opening of court by placing on the stand the first of a long string of witnesses to disprove every step in the denial of the prisoner. First one of Beattie's own friends testified to having heard Henry make an engagement over the telephone in a candy store to meet some one at a certain hour on that Thursday night. Then came other young men to say that they had seen Henry Beattie drive up in his car at Short and Main streets, Richmond, and take Paul in the machine with him. Even a Syrian candy shop keeper, who stuttered with nervousness, helped to make this point stronger.

Paul Beattie had said that after Henry had taken him in the car they had driven to McEvoy's saloon and there had a drink of beer. One of several who had been at the saloon on that night Wendenburg picked three to go on the stand and swear that they had seen the two cousins there and that they had driven away together.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTIONS

THE BILL OF RIGHTS AND THE SCHEDULE

BY PROF. C. B. GALBREATH,
FORMER OHIO STATE LIBRARIAN

In 1800 the population of the North west Territory, including the present states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and a portion of Minnesota, was only 45,365. The census of 1810 showed for Ohio alone a population of 230,760, a remarkable increase of more than 500 per cent over that of the entire territory ten years before. The following decades continued to show a marked and substantial growth. The population in 1820 was 581,295; in 1830, 937,903; in 1840, 1,519,467; in 1850, 1,980,329.

Two influences contributed to the rapid settling up of the state:

1. Its natural resources.

With a climate of extremes in temperature and humidity, with a generous rainfall, equitably distributed through the year, experience has shown that this region is well adapted to the vegetable and animal life of the temperate zone, the favorite abode of man in a civilized state. In almost every portion of the state springs gush from the earth and unite their waters in streams that flow into our rivers and lakes. The land is generally fertile, in some portions remarkably so. Here may be produced in abundance cereals, grasses and fruits. For raiment, flax may be gathered from the fields and wool shorn from the flocks. Conditions are favorable to the raising of live stock and the hills abound in mineral wealth. The varied and abundant resources invite to many departments of human endeavor. An orator at a local Ohio gathering once said, "shut this county out from all the rest of the world, and man could labor and live here in the full enjoyment of civilized life." The element of truth in this statement has invited to that diversification of industry and enterprise so necessary to a growing and prosperous state.

The migration to the Northwest was greatly accelerated by the attractive force of free institutions—the charters of civil and religious liberty, the ordinance of 1787 and the first constitution of Ohio. It is scarcely necessary to quote from the former its familiar provision: "There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the said territory, otherwise than in the punishment of crimes whereof the party shall have been duly convicted."

The motives that led to the unanimous adoption of this provision by the Continental Congress have been the subject of much speculation. Why did the members from the slave holding states vote for it? It is claimed that their action was not wholly disinterested—that they feared commercial competition with the Northwest and thought that by depriving the territory of slave labor they might secure an advantage over those who should migrate to this region. With slave labor, Virginia and Kentucky could deliver farm products in the markets at less expense than could prospective competitors across the river. If this was the logic of the southern leaders, it was reversed by the logic of history.

The beacon light of liberty that the founders raised in the wilderness called over the mountains and across the river a people alien neither in race nor in spirit to our institutions. Among them were the demure and peaceful Quakers from North Carolina and Pennsylvania, the sturdy puritans from New England and the ambitious and politically dominant pioneers from Virginia. In the ranks of these adventurous and enterprising spirits were those who had shown their devotion to the infant republic on the fields of the Revolution. When Lafayette on his tour through our country, visited our state in 1825, he portrayed, in his brief, impromptu speech at Cincinnati, the fact and the cause of our rapid development as a state:

"The highest reward that can be bestowed on a Revolutionary veteran is to welcome him to a sight of the blessings which have issued from our struggle for independence, freedom and equal rights. Where can these enjoyments be more complete than in the state of Ohio, where even among the prodigies of American progress we are so particularly to admire the rapid and wonderful results of free institutions, free spirit and free industry."

Free institutions, free spirit and free industry, these attracted Puritan and Quaker and Cavalier, and fused them on the altar of freedom.

The influences here set forth were not the only ones that were active in the building up of our state. They were the most important, however. The others were collateral and contributory.

With the rapid growth of our state came a corresponding development of agriculture. The diversification of our industries had its inception early, but it became conspicuously prominent subsequent to 1850.

The people early realized the need of better facilities for transportation. Roads were to be hewn out of the forest; navigable streams were to be improved and utilized, and following the example of New York, under the guidance of DeWitt Clinton, our state inaugurated a system of canals to connect Lake Erie and the Ohio river. A way must be provided to transport the surplus products of the farm. This the state undertook to do. The first constitution, while it did not contemplate this assumption of power, offered no bar to the system of internal improvements that was gradually developed under the fostering care of paternal legislation. Turnpikes, reservoirs and canals were constructed. While they materially accelerated the development or the resources of the state, they brought with their advantages the burden of debt to the shoulders of the people. An enterprise so vast could not be undertaken in that day by private capital, and the state was ill prepared to complete and administer with credit to itself, the work that it essayed with vigor and enthusiasm to accomplish.

Before proceeding any further, it may not be out of place to define two terms occasionally used in the presentation of the general subject under discussion:

Bill of Rights. This, as here used, is a series of declarations, in a constitution, of the general and fundamental rights reserved to the people. They include, of course, the natural and inalienable rights of "life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness," more specifically stated. As an illustration, Section 7, of the Bill of Rights of our present constitution, which is almost identical with Section 3, of the corresponding article of our first Constitution, is here presented:

"All men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates to their own conscience. No person shall be compelled to attend, erect, or support any place of worship, or maintain any form of worship, against his consent; and no preference shall be given by law to any religious society; nor shall any interference with the rights of conscience be permitted. No religious test shall be required as a qualification for office nor shall any person be incompetent to be a witness on account of his religious belief; but nothing herein shall be construed to dispense with oaths or affirmations. Religion, morality and knowledge, however, being essential to good government, it shall be the duty of the General Assembly to pass suitable laws to protect every religious denomination in the peaceable enjoyment of its own mode of worship and to encourage schools and the means of instruction."

While the Bill of Rights, in our first and second constitutions include respectively twenty-eight and twenty sections, each covers essentially the same ground and the concluding section of the second, like that of the first, declares:

"This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to impair or deny others retained by the people; and all powers, not herein delegated, remain with the people."

Schedule. The purpose of the schedule, as set forth in the proceedings of the first constitutional convention, is "to carry into complete operation the constitution and government." A new constitution brings forth changes. It supercedes a previously existing constitution or instrument of government. It is important that the change be attended with as little friction as possible. To provide for this, a schedule of several sections is generally necessary, specifying when and how the constitution shall be submitted to a vote of the people, and when and how, if adopted, its provisions shall go into effect.

Jefferson has already been quoted in favor of providing frequent opportunity for amending or revising state constitutions. It is apparent that the need of change is dependent in no small measure upon the character of the constitution. One may be made so brief and general in its provisions that it will serve for a long time or possibly for all time. The preamble of our National Constitution could not be much improved. Perhaps it would not be changed at all if our ablest statesmen were to rewrite that constitution today. The bill of rights in our first constitution, in substance, if not in form, will doubtless, in the future as in the past, be a part of any constitution that the people of Ohio may adopt.

The constitution of 1802 contained provisions less flexible than those in its bill of rights, and it was doubtless these that Jefferson had in mind when he critised that instrument as on the whole too detailed and specific. The article which for this and other reasons was first proven inadequate and ill adapted to the changing conditions of our rapidly expanding population, was the one relating to the judiciary. Its chief defect grew out of the fact that it made the whole judicial system subject absolutely to the legislature. This in part grew out of the belief, generally prevailing in our country at the beginning of the last century, that the people were not to be trusted with the direct election of their officials, that this power was to be delegated to a more select body chosen by them.—In the new state of Ohio, to the legislature. The result was that the judicial department, which should be the most independent of all, was made the pliant creature of the law making body.

Mad Asylum Inmates Fight Rescuers Fiercely

Wing of Arizona Institution Gutted By Fire.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 6.—Thrilling scenes were enacted at the Arizona insane asylum when fire swept through the east wing of the building in which scores of insane persons were quartered. That no lives were lost is regarded as marvelous in view of the difficulties presented to the firemen.

When the flames burst out the panic among the inmates was great, especially among those in the violent ward. Many of the maniacs had to be placed in straight-jackets and then forcibly carried from the building fighting their rescuers. Shortly after all the inmates had been removed the roof of the east wing fell in.

A GREAT ADVANTAGE

TO WORKING MEN.

J. A. Maple, 125 S. 7th St., Steubenville, O., says:

"For years I suffered from weak kidneys and a severe bladder trouble. I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about. My backache left me and to one of my business, expressman, that alone is a great advantage. My kidneys acted free and normal, and that saved me a lot of misery. It is now a pleasure to work where it used to be a misery. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me and have my highest praise." Blackmer & Tanquary.

OF SPECIAL OFFER ONLY ONE MORE DAY NOW IS BEST CHANCE

To Win—Get Busy—If You Delay This Important Matter

YOU WILL SURELY LOSE

The Greatest Opportunity During the Entire Contest

Only one day yet remains of the big vote offer for old and new subscriptions which runs from August 31st to Sept. 7th. At the end of that time the special weekly vote offer will close. All other offers will be smaller than this. If you can get more votes now than at any other time, why delay? Why not take advantage of this prize winning opportunity and carry away your favorite prize. The closing of this offer, however, does not conflict with the double offer for $2.00 or more and which closes Sept. 16th.

Bring in your subscriptions as soon as you secure them and the contest manager will issue you the regular ballot. A strict account will be kept of all subscriptions turned in until the end of the special weekly vote offers and then the bonus ballots will be issued to those candidates who have made the successful effort.

Don't let rumor influence you one way or the other. These rumors are false as no information is given out from this office concerning the contest except such as the candidates authorize us to publish in the papers.

NOTICE

To Contestants In District No. 2

Subscriptions that are mailed before the special offer expires, Thursday, September 7th at 5:30 p. m., will be allowed extra votes even if they are not received at this office until the next day. This will give the contestants in the rural districts an even chance with the Washington candidates and enable them to work up until the hour the special offer closes.

THE VOTE OFFER

FOR NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS

For $8.00 in new subscriptions, 6,000 extra votes will be given.
For $12.00 in new subscriptions, 10,000 extra votes will be given.

For $25.00 in new subscriptions, 25,000 extra votes will be given.

FOR OLD SUBSCRIPTIONS

For $15.00 in old subscriptions, 12,000 extra votes will be given.

For $30.00 in old subscriptions, 30,000 extra votes will be given.

For $40.00 in old subscriptions, 50,000 extra votes will be given.

For $60.00 in old subscriptions, 75,000 extra votes will be given.

For $75.00 in old subscriptions, 115,000 extra votes will be given.

Remember that you have two separate offers this week, one for NEW and one for OLD subscriptions. Don't get this confused. This is positively the largest offer that will be given, and runs from Thursday, Aug. 31st, to Thursday, Sept. 7th, at 5:30 p. m.

Attention, Contestants

Your attention is hereby called to the Great Double Vote offer which began Saturday Sept. 2, and lasts until the evening of Saturday, September 16.

The big double vote offer above mentioned has been inaugurated for the purpose of allowing hustling candidates "to do big things." It is possible under this offer for contestants to show to advantage just what they are capable of doing in an effort to capture the elegant prizes.

Contestants will bear in mind that this double vote offer does not effect the other offers now in force, or yet to be made, but is in addition thereto.

WHO ARE ELIGIBLE.

Any lady or gentleman living in Washington or in Fayette or adjoining counties will be eligible to enter the great contest.

HOW TO ENTER CONTEST.

It costs you absolutely nothing to enter the contest. All that is necessary is for you or one of your friends to cut a nomination blank from the Ohio State Register or Washington Daily Herald, fill it out with your name or that of a friend and mail or bring it to the Contest Manager at the Register-Herald office; that will start you in the contest with 500 votes. You may also clip the vote

Below we publish for your guidance the complete double vote offer which will be in force and effect during this period. Examine it carefully in order that you may fully acquaint yourselves with its importance.

Please note that there is no increase in the number of votes given on $1.00 subscriptions to either the Register or Herald. To secure the benefit of the Great Double Vote Offer, subscriptions to the Register, new or old, must cover two years, and to the Herald, must cover at least six months. The longer the time on either paper, the the subscription new or old, the larger the vote.

WHERE THE PRIZES WILL GO.

The person who receives the largest number of votes in the entire contest will receive the Schaff Bros. Player Piano. The person who receives the second highest number of votes will receive the H. Link & Son Upright Piano with this restriction, that if the player piano is won in district No. 1, the upright piano must be awarded to the opposite district, or vice versa. In this way one of the grand prizes will be won in Washington and one outside of Washington. After the grand prizes have been awarded, the names of the winners will be stricken from the list and the holders of the first places will then be given the prizes known as District 1st prize. The same plan will be used in awarding the District 2d prizes.

Remember, three prizes will be given to each district, and each and every candidate will receive a square deal. One district will not have the advantage over another. District No. 1 will receive a grand prize and two district prizes. District No. 2 will also receive a grand prize and two district prizes.

Address all communications to the Contest Manager, Register-Herald, Washington C. H., Ohio. See the Contest Manager for instructions and all details of the contest.

If you don't want to be bothered with people coming to you to buy, trade, rent, etc., then do not use the classified column, for it is surely the "bargain counter of the town."

People who allow property to remain vacant, things to be lost, or articles for which they have no use to remain on their hands are standing in their own light. A few words in the classified column will convince the most skeptical that this means communication with the people is "timmer." It brings results.

STRANGE FEATS OF FAMOUS GLUTTONS

"BEASTS FEED, MAN eats. The wise man alone knows how to eat." But not always. It would scarcely be incorrect to describe Balzac, Voltaire and Victor Hugo, for instance, as wise men in their own way; and yet they were human gluttons, whose gastronomic feats would strike the average reader as somewhat amazing, to say the least.

Balzac has told us himself that at the end of a hard writing he went to a certain famous eating house in Paris and there ordered, and ate, a little dinner carefully composed of twelve dozen Ostend oysters, twelve mutton cutlets, a duck, two roast partridges, a Normandy sole, fruit, coffee and liqueurs. Victor Hugo, whose iron teeth could crush a cutlet bone as if it were an almond, sometimes amused his grandchildren, after eating through a dinner of six courses, by collecting the remnants of soup, entree, fish, roast, vegetables, and sweet dishes, mixing them, and eating this horrible "salad" there and then with obvious pleasure.

Voltaire who almost lived on strong coffee, bragged of drinking sixty cups a day, which reminds one of Dr. Johnson, who could almost equal this record in the matter of tea.

Judging, however, from the information contained in a book lately published in France, on eating, it would appear that not even Balzac, Hugo, or the more modern eating-champions we occasionally read about, whose feats for wagers—such as disposing of a trifle like twenty pounds of plum duff, fifty or sixty eggs, or a score of pigeons—would not have stood much chance if matched against one or two of the French kings. Take Louis XIV., for instance, who was a gourmand, and a gourmet, too. He had as many as 1,500 men to cook for him and to wait at his banquets.

Here is the menu of one of his ordinary dinners: One broth made of two fowls and one of four partridges and cabbage; one additional soup, made of six pigeons and one of cocks' combs; two further soups, one of fowl and one of partridge; a twenty-pound side of veal and twelve pigeons; a fricassee of six chickens and two hashed partridges, three roast partridges, six braised partridges, two roast turkeys, three truffled hens, two fat capons, nine chickens, nine pigeons, two young chickens, six partridges and four pigeons. The dessert consisted of two china bowls of raw fruit, two of jam and two of compote.

DOES YOURS?
"I wish you wouldn't contradict me, my dear."
"I don't."

The Use of Perfume

TO THE GIRL of fastidious taste the strong and blatant use of perfumes is objectionable. And men are even violent in their denunciation. Yet there is nothing sweeter than a dainty girl, unless it is a dainty baby.

It is not the use, but the abuse, of perfumes and sachets that is objectionable. The girl who wishes to guard against this should remember that all she wants is to have her clothing tinged with a breath of a delicate odor, which is never detected unless one is quite close.

To accomplish this, one should be careful in bestowing sachets about the clothing. They should always be cut to fit the place where they are to go. Sometimes they are in the shape of rose petals to fit the artificial roses which one wears in bodice or hair, or they are made long and thin, to be worn underneath a dog collar which clasps the neck.

It is rather a fad with some girls to have their soap scented with their own perfume. Many girls use perfume in their rooms by spraying it about, or by burning sticks that are manufactured on the order of the Chinese joss ones.

First Grand Prize 2nd Grand Prize

$600 Schaff Bros. Player Piano

This beautiful Player Piano will be given to the person having the largest number of votes in the Register-Herald's Great Voting Contest, and was bought of J. A. Smalley, who will shortly have the instrument on exhibition at his store-room on West Court St., next door to the T. C. DeWees photo gallery, also in Exhibition hall at the County Fair next week.

This player piano carries with it an unlimited warranty and is the most simply constructed player on the market, one lever acting for the tempo, start, stop and rewind, making it possible for a child to operate it and play any style of music, from ragtime to the most classical.

The tone of this instrument, its volume of sound and artistic workmanship have earned for it the distinction of being one of the finest player pianos ever brought into Fayette county. Call at Smalley's store on West Court street and examine this prize.

$265 Link & Son Piano

This piano, also made by the Schaff Bros., of Chicago, Ill., and Huntington, Ind., has no equal on the market for the price. The people making this piano have been located in Chicago since the year 1868, since which time their financial rating has been unsurpassed by any of their competitors. They were the first firm to make upright pianos in Chicago after the great fire of 1872, and a steady improvement has marked the quality of their product ever since.

This piano was purchased from J. A. Smalley and is on exhibition at the storeroom next to the DeWees photograph gallery. The many excellent features of this instrument, combining a double veneered maple-lined mahogany case, light, perfectly balanced and sympathetic action and soft mellow tone make it one that anyone who is a lover of music would be proud to own.

DISTRICT FIRST PRIZE

$200 Bed Room Suite

In Circassian Walnut, consisting of one standard sized Dresser, one Chiffonier with five large drawers, and one Bed with the new style roll top head and foot boards.

This suite would adorn a palace. It is a prize that will stand the test of time. It will ever be a thing of beauty, fit to hand down to children and grandchildren as an heirloom of Twentieth Century art.

This prize can be seen at the store of The Fayette County Hardware Co., where it was purchased. This firm's well known reputation for square dealing is a sufficient guarantee that this beautiful prize is all that is claimed for it.

DISTRICT SECOND PRIZE

$40 HAVILAND CHINA DINNER SET

This eighty-piece genuine Haviland China Dinner Set, which was purchased of S. S. Cockerill & Son, will be awarded as the District Second Prize.

Haviland & Co., the makers of this beautiful ware, and S. S. Cockerill & Son, the local dealers, guarantee each piece in this set to be absolutely perfect in every way. Each piece bears two stamps. The green one shows that the body of the article was made by Haviland & Co., while the red stamp is a guarantee that the decorations are also a work of this wonderful factory. When examining these dishes please note that they bear both the green and red stamps.

This ware is beautifully decorated in gold, and each piece has been kept free from water so that the monogram of the owner may be put on if desired. The set consists of the following articles: 12 Dinner Plates, 12 Pie Plates, 12 B. and B. Plates, 12 Teas and Saucers, 12 Fruit Saucers, 1 meat Platter, 1 Footed Salad Dish, 1 Baker, 1 Sauce Boat, 1 Covered Sugar and 1 Creamer, forming a prize that will not only be appreciated by the winner and admired by all her friends, but that is as good as money will buy.

DISTRICT FIRST PRIZE

$125 Diamond Ring

This ring was purchased at the store of C. A. Gossard & Co., who guarantee it to be a pure and flawless stone. If C. A. Gossard & Co. added not one word of assurance, this beautiful little gem would speak for itself.

The perfect color, correct cut and proportion give it the scintillating brilliancy that comes only in the perfect stone. It is a gem no better than which adorns the hand of royalty—it is a prize that any young lady may well strive for.

To the energetic woman who wins it, this beautiful gem will be as a legacy in the bank. Its value is eternal and can never grow less. The person who wins this prize is not required to take the ring which we have selected, but CAN HAVE THE CHOICE OF ALL $125 DIAMONDS in the store of C. A. Gossard & Co.

DISTRICT SECOND PRIZE

$75.00 Diamond Ring

This stone, purchased of W. H. Hettesheimer, Jeweler, is not quite as large as the diamond offered as the District First Prize, but it a good sized gem, perfect in color and absolutely flawless. It has a Tiffany setting, and will make a splendid prize for some worthy young lady.

W. H. Hettesheimer guarantees this ring to be exactly as it is here advertised, and the person who wins it can have their CHOICE OF $75 DIAMONDS IN HETTESHEIMER'S store.

Young ladies, here is a chance to secure that coveted diamond. Perhaps you may never have the opportunity of getting another. Some person is going to be the proud possessor of this valuable prize. Why not you? It will not cost you a cent.
